

Top Trends in 2015 for your Bridesmaids Dresses

Brides, your bridesmaids will be by your side and on great show during your wedding day so their dresses should carry some glam magic! On our BLOG today we bring you the Top Trends in 2015 for your Bridesmaids Dresses to help you with your choice.

Fabrics

The trend of the last year for light fabrics is still evident for bridesmaids dresses. Tulle and lace are the designers' favourite fabrics, closely followed by satin. Whatever the theme or style of your wedding these fabrics will fit and bring a soft and romantic side to your bridesmaids look. Tulle is ideal for a chic bohemian or an ethereal fairytale wedding. Add some lace for an even more romantic look or to emulate some details of your own dress. Satin is perfect for an elegant and formal wedding.

Shapes

It is important not to forget to adapt the shape of the dresses to your bridesmaids morphologies to ensure that they feel comfortable on your big day. First decide on the length of the dress ie long /short or ballet length in keeping with the style of your wedding day ie formal best if girls wear a long dress while shorter will suit a more casual affair. Then choose what kind of top the dress will have: bustier, sleeves, simple straps, crossed-straps, one-shouldered... Once you have decided have the girls try the style to be sure that it suits and flatters all of them.

Girls can wear different style & colour of dresses

Traditionally each girl wore the same dress but you can be more modern and original and have a mix of bridesmaids dress styles and colours. You can play with various shapes, with lengths and even with colours! If you want to have different bridesmaids dresses keep in mind that they all have to match your wedding theme and mustn't draw the attention from your bridal gown.

Colours

Consider your wedding theme and colour palette before choosing your bridesmaids dresses colour, e.g. green dresses are perfect for an Irish Celtic wedding, yellow for a beach wedding! Choose a colour/s that suit the girls complexions! Consider dress colours that will compliment your bridal gown and ensure that they don't over shadow it. You also have to consider the season. We like turquoise, coral or lavender for spring and fuchsia, yellow or mint for a summer wedding. For a fall wedding brown, purple or marsala are good choices while eggplant, navy blue or black are ideal for a winter wedding. While very pale coloured dresses can be lovely they do not always photograph well. The ultimate in trend since Pippa Middleton wore it for Kate and Williams wedding is for the bridesmaids to wear white dresses!

Hairstyles, Accessories and Shoes

If you want a formal look an elegant updo is ideal. For a boho and effortlessly elegant bridesmaid look hair down with a simple headband or flower is perfect. Braids are a very on trend feature of bridesmaids hair styles. Identical shoes, necklace or scarf is a great manner to complete your bridesmaids look. You can choose their hairstyle, accessories and shoes or let them show their personality by choosing themselves.

Brides, hope or BLOG today helps you with your bridesmaids dresses choice.
